

1. What are Aristotle's four causes?
2. How does Anselm's ontological argument for God's existence begin?
3. How do Aquinas's Five Ways begin?
4. What is the meditator's goal? What do they want to achieve?
5. Is Descartes a skeptic?
6. Is there a kind of skepticism that he is on board with?
7. To achieve certainty, everything _____ must be rejected.
8. What are the "foundations" that can be targeted to execute this rejection?
9. What's something easy to reject? What reason for doubt is used here?
10. What's something more difficult to reject? What reason for doubt is used here?
11. What's the point of the evil demon in the First Meditation?

Extra Copy #1

Please write your name in the box:

--